SOMETHING NEW HAS BEEN ADDED

Many of our customers, especially those distant, think of us largely as Iris growers. It is true that our passion and hobby is Iris—Iris of all types. Equally it is true that as a long established nationally known garden writer and editor we have had access to, or grown in our own garden, new plant, shrub, rose and bulb novelties long before their public debut.

As rapidly as time and purse permits, we are adding these modern day jewels for your garden to our catalog listings. Every effort is being made to add only those items that are worthy from the standpoint of good growing and flowering habits. We are not interested in "something new" solely because it bears a current introductory date at a price only the collector are afford. If we incline price only the collector can afford. If we incline a bit toward the conservative—it might possibly be because we grew up in an era and with a people and an American form of government that was earnest, hard working, trustworthy-and exceedingly conservative.

This year, as in the past five, our plant prices are still slanted toward that conservative, for we do not believe in inflation in any field of endeavor, but in sound practices that ultimately will return to America the maximum enjoyment to the majority of people with freedom in individual thinking and spending that was, and should be, the American Deanette M. Small. way of life.

HEMEROCALLIS (Daylilies)

No lengthy descriptions or cultural notes are given here, as most of our customers already have this. We will be glad to furnish specific information of any sort on request.

For newcomers, the Hemerocallis is, we believe, the easiest of all Perennials to grow, as it may be planted in full sun to light shade, moist to dry soil, rich ground or poor, and withal give a fine showing. Many of the floral patterns and colors are richly Oriental, giving a bold, dashing effect to summer gardens that all too often have gone drab.

In planting, set the crown about one inch below soil surface, firm earth tightly about the plant, water heavily, and keep well watered until new growth starts. Natural barnyard or commercial cow or sheep manure is excellent to use, or compost. Individual plants should be allowed several feet of room, to allow clumps to develop, interplanting with annuals or smaller perennials during the development period. Winter mulching is highly advisable after fall setting, especially in sections where freezing and thawing occurs.

$5.00, $7.50, $10.00 and $25.00 give almost dou	ıble

value in every instance, and are equally desirable in your own garden, or packed and sent for you as gifts. Your own want list, submitted to us, frequently can be used as a base in making up such collections.

IRIS

A special folder of Iris offerings, including Tall Bearded, Dwarf, Siberian and Spuria, is now in process of printing. It will be sent to all of our customers on record, and to others on request.

The Spuria and Siberian Iris more nearly have the same soil requirements as Hemerocallis, so a few are listed here.

SPURIA. Azure Dawn, light lavendar blue; BEN LOMOND, medium or so-called electric blue; GOLD NUGGET, sunny golden yellow; MRS. A. W. early flowering porcelain blue; QUEEN VICTORIA, tall, free blooming white; SHELFORD GIANT, very large creamy white with distinct patch of yellow, a most choice corsage flower. Good strong plants of all the above, $1.00 each or all 6 for $5.00. Shipping time, late August to early November.

SIBERIAN. Caesar's Brother, deep purple; GATI-NEAU, fine light blue; SNOW CREST, crisp white, all 75c each, or all 3 for $2.00. Also available HELEN ASTOR, rosy red, $1.50 each; RED EMPEROR, wine red, $1.00 each; TONAWANDA RED FLARE, new amaranth red, $2.00 each; ERIC THE RED, still the best of the reds, $2.50. Used with their own foliage, the Siberian iris are especially fine for line or Japanese arrangements, as stems are stiff yet graceful and flowers of exquisite form. Our strong plants sent to you this fall, if planted according to directions, will bloom without fail the following spring.

POPPIES (Oriental)

Before the supply is again exhausted, get your order in for WAR LORD, the best red poppy in existence; for PINK LASSIE, the simply huge pink, and RASPBERRY QUEEN, that gloriously colored newcomer. The first two at $1.00, the latter $1.50, or all three for $2.75 postpaid.

Other listings of Peonies and Poppies, as well as Dutch Bulbs, will be found in the Iris folder soon to come off the press. Be sure to send for it.

TERMS OF SALE

TERMS OF SALE

All orders for stock will be booked as received, and shipped in subsequent order when digging season starts. Requests for special shipping dates will be honored in every instance possible. Checks. drafts or money orders should be made out to Waldean Farm. Do not send stamps or currency. Because of increasing labor and material costs, we ask that no order under $3.00 be sent unless accompanied by a 35c additional service charge, as such orders are a loss operation to our nursery.

We attempt to send out only well grown, full size plants in every instance. If at any time you are not satisfied with stock received, write us at once, and adjustment will be made, or you may return stock at our expense and money will be cheerfully refunded. We cannot be responsible for growth of plants after they are set out in your garden, as personal care and weather conditions are the factors then that regulate growth and bloom.

We thank you for the past business sent to us, and for the orders entrusted to us for this year. We are sure that we can please you in every respect—and when we do we ask that you pass the name of WALDEAN FARM on to your friends—so that we may please them, too.
